What is VNO license?

- A Virtual Network Operator is an internet service reseller extending high-quality network and management services to other networking companies that do not possess their own telecom setup.
- A VNO (Virtual Network Operator) License is a miniature version of an ISP license. With an ISP license, you can run internet services on a larger domain.
- Validity for this license is 10 years.

Why go for VNO license?

- ISPs who wish to operate small level internet service only in a particular territory can choose a VNO license instead of an ISP license. VNO is affordable, less complicated, convenient and ideal for small level ISPs.
- This license is needed for running Internet services or Data services in India. You can provide internet services like Leased Line/Broadband /VOIP /IP TV etc.
- Issuing Authority – Department of Telecommunication Delhi.

Categories of VNO License

- Select the category in which you want to apply for the VNO ISP License, opt between A, B or C category. The three different categories of VNO ISP license in India are bifurcated by Dot.
- Country is divided into 24 Service Areas consisting of 20 Telecom Circle Service and 4 Metro Service Areas for Category "B" 322 Secondary Switching Areas for Category "C" VNO ISP license is cheapest for class C.

VNO license - 3 Categories

- UL VNO Category A: Pan India category. If you get this class of VNO License, you can provide internet access across the country.
- UL VNO Category B: Valid in 20 major states. Among all the categories, it's the VNO Access B License that is sought after the most. The VNO License B class fee is lower than that of class A. Furthermore, it provides the most venues of expansion of your business.
- UL VNO Category C: Valid in a secondary switching area. This particular VNO ISP License is suitable for small regions like a town, a district or a colony.
